DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-13, drawn to a method of selecting a neurogenic agent, classified in class 435, subclass 325, for example.
- II. Claim 14, drawn to a method of treating a disorder by administering imidazole, classified in class 514, subclass 396, for example.
- III. Claim 15, drawn to a method of treating a disorder by administering an aminopyrimidine, classified in class 514, subclass 49, for example.
- IV. Claim 16, drawn to method of treating a disorder by administering a nicotinamide, classified in class 514, subclass 613, for example.
- V. Claim 17, drawn to a method of treating a disorder by administering an aminomethyl phenoxyperidine, classified in class 514, subclass 315, for example.
- VI. Claim 18, drawn to a method for treating a disorder by administering an aryloxyperidine, classified in class 514, subclass 315, for example.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The methods of Groups I-VI are directed to different inventions which are not connected in design, operation, and/or effect. These methods are independent since they are not disclosed as capable of use together, they have different modes of operation, they have different functions, and/or they have different effects. One would not have to practice the various methods at the same time to practice just one method alone. For example, the method of Group I is drawn to a method for selecting a neurogenic agent, whereas the methods of Groups II-VI are drawn to methods for treating a disorder. Furthermore, the distinct inventions of Groups II-VI are each drawn to method of treating a disorder using mutually exclusive compounds. One compound would not necessarily anticipate or even make obvious another.

The several inventions above are independent and distinct, each from the other. They have acquired a separate status in the art as a separate subject for inventive effect and require independent searches (as indicated by the different classification). The search for each of the above inventions is not co-extensive particularly with regard to the literature search. Further, a reference which would anticipate the invention of one group would not necessarily anticipate or even make obvious another group. Finally, the consideration for patentability is different in each case. Thus, it would be an undue burden to examine all of the above inventions in one application.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the response to this requirement, to be complete, must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed.

In addition, this application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: the multiple different test agent compounds recited in claims 9, 10, 11, 12, and 13.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species (i.e., choose one of the following compounds: fused imidazole, aminopyrimidine, nicotinamide, aminomethyl phenoxypiperidine, or aryloxypiperidine) for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 1 is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35

U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
